

UC Davis student wins Cal-IPC award

Congratulations to Annabelle Kleist, who was awarded the 2nd place prize in the student paper contest at the California Invasive Plant Council (Cal-IPC) Symposium. Her oral presentation, titled “Origins of Invasive French Broom” described her molecular phylogenetic study of invasive and ornamental brooms in California. Annabelle is a doctoral student in the Plant Biology Group in Marie Jasieniuk's lab, Dept. of Plant Sciences, UC Davis.
